PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

by Jack Callahan

Balboa Island is a lovely place to live, but like many communities today, it faces new challenges that maybe 10 or even 20 years ago it didn't have to deal with. I have been a part of the Balboa Island Improvement Association in one form or another since 1995 and ran around the island in the 60's and early 70's, in high school and college. We chased girls, drank beer and worked to keep gas in our VW's. We knew all the best beaches, the best bars and took advantage of all of it. Newport Beach was the greatest place to be. I did not know there was a BIIA on Balboa Island. Our biggest worry was getting to and staying on the Island during Easter Week. Then a new worry did come up, the Draft, in the late 60's early 70's. There were not any other problems on Balboa Island. I guess we survived all that.

Jump forward to 2017. Things have changed on Balboa Island and Newport Beach. Both have grown, maybe not in the same exact way, but they have changed. Most for the better, not all. The Island has more traffic, cars, bikes, golf carts and people. Marine Ave. has changed. We have lost some of our old, long time businesses. Some of the new business are fine, not all. Marine Ave. needs a face lift. There is a lot of pressure on the infrastructure. Our beaches, streets, sidewalks, seawalls and power structure will all need attention in the future. Even our landscaping needs a little love. It all has served us well for many years. In 1969 I didn't worry about these things.

Balboa Island's future is good. We have great people on the Island who look after things and take care of each other. I think the new City Council will be much more concerned about us and take care to lead the Island and Newport Beach in the right direction for the future. The BIIA will be right there to protect our future and have some fun along the way, just like in 1969. I'm proud to be a part of the Balboa Island Improvement Association and if you are not a member, join us and let's work together for all of Balboa Island.

Thanks, Jack Callahan, President.

Meet Your Neighbor

Seymour Beek and Catalina Island, a Lifetime of Memories

From The Catalina Islander Newspaper 1/27/17

Seymour Beek has a lifetime of Catalina Island memories. He first came to the Island at the age of 5 with his father, who owned the historic Balboa Island Ferry that transports vehicles and passengers between Newport Beach and the popular island getaway. He remembers kids diving for coins tossed into Avalon Bay by passengers on the old steamboat.

He recalls returning to Catalina's Moonstone Beach after World War II and finding it littered with debris from military training operations, and he reminisces about endless days of enjoyment aboard his father's boat and his own boat with his five children. "I have so many memories of fishing, swimming, diving, snorkeling and hiking on Catalina Island," he said.

"I must have hiked up Whitley's Peak 50 times," Beek said. Beek wants his grandchildren and great-grandchildren to have their own memories of idyllic summers on Catalina. So he became one of the earliest members of the Catalina Island Conservancy after it was formed in 1972 to protect and restore 88 percent of the Island.

He said he'd witnessed the growth in Avalon and Two Harbors and heard about plans to develop other parts of the Island.

He'd also seen the goat trails carved into Catalina's hillside and the damage to its vegetation caused by the grazing of non-native animals that roamed the Island before the 21st Century.

"It was obvious there were certain things about the Island that were deteriorating," he said. "There was a general consensus that if someone took care of Catalina, it would be better."

Beek lives on Balboa Island, where he operates the Balboa Island Ferry, a family-owned business his father founded in 1919.

But he still travels often to Catalina, and he credits the Conservancy with important improvements in the landscape and protection for the Island's open space.

"The Conservancy does good things, and it takes care of the Island," he said. "Membership in the Conservancy is important for anyone who cares about the Island. It's a worthy cause and a good thing to belong to and support."

Members' dues help save animal and plant species on the verge of extinction and maintain unique habitats for all to enjoy. Members also have access to Conservancy venues, like the Wrigley Memorial & Botanic Garden; discounts on a number of services, like the Wildlands Express and popular Jeep Eco Tours, and information about the Conservancy's popular events and the opportunities it sponsors to explore and experience Catalina and the other Channel Islands.

Beek said he's attended the Annual Conservancy Ball twice and considers it a rare chance to dine and dance in the historic Avalon Casino ballroom. He also participated in several Conservancy events, including a boat trip to Santa Cruz and two of the BZ Jones hikes across Catalina.

"I do a fair amount of hiking," he said. "But on the BZ Jones Hike, I saw parts of the Island I had never seen before, and the Conservancy treated us like royalty. It's been a lot of fun to be a member," Beek said.

What's Blooming?

117 Onyx Avenue

by Leigh Kelly, BIIA Beautification Chair

Let's face it: we are all packed in a little tight on Balboa Island. I believe that this is why I stopped and admired my choice for this issue. The home at 117 Onyx is an older Balboa Island home with a more vintage garden arrangement. A well maintained mix of roses, bougainvillea, boxwood hedges and a small lawn give this home a peaceful feeling and reminds me of days gone by.

Balboa island is truly a feast for the eyes. Sometimes, though, less can be more. This is one of those places and times. I stood and took in what this homeowner has done and thoughts of my grandpa's beautiful yard and my grandma's homemade cookies invaded my thoughts. Walk by and see if this garden pulls at some of your memories, too. Well done, 117 Onyx!

Graduation for a recent CERT Class

By Sue & Ed Siebel

At the annual CERT banquet last week, Matt Brisbois, Life Safety Specialist, Newport Beach Fire Department, talked a bit about the background of our CERT program.

CERT really only began about 30 years ago, when Los Angeles started a pilot program, based upon Japan's extensive earthquake preparedness plans. Huntington Beach's CERT plan followed about 5 years later, as the first program in Orange County. Then, the City of Newport Beach CERT program began

For those of you who have not yet taken the CERT training, but would like to do so, there are trainings (number 67 and 68!) beginning in March – one series on Thursdays from 9:00 a.m. – 1:00 p.m. and one series on Saturdays from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Free for Newport Beach residents! Check <http://www.newport-beachca.gov/government> for all the information and to register.

Sue and Ed Siebel - CERT Coordinators

in 1999, essentially 5 years after Huntington Beach. By 2004, FEMA had adopted the program and there were CERT programs in all 50 states, three territories and six foreign countries.

Since that first Newport Beach CERT class of 20 people (including our own BIIA Associate Board Member, Ellis Marcos), the City has held 66 classes, and graduated 1043 Newport Beach CERT members, including 192 radio trained and licensed CERT Communicators! Together, those CERT members have put in a total of 61,480 hours working for our city. In addition, during the last 10 years, NBCERT has been activated 4 times – twice during county-wide fire emergencies and twice, here in our own city, for the Ben Carlson events.

During all of these programs, people and activations, Newport Beach has shown itself to be one of the special programs.

In 2012 it was awarded FEMA's "Individual and Community Preparedness Award for Outstanding CERT programs, and also received an Honorable Mention for "Volunteer Integration". Then, in 2013, it was awarded the "White House Champions of Change Award."

Our Balboa Island CERT is one of the largest and most complimented neighborhood CERT groups in the city, and has one of the most defined protocols. Thanks to all the CERTs for being a part of it. We are lucky to have you!

City Beat

by Lee Pearl

My role this year on the BIIA Board will be the liaison to our local government agencies. I will do my best to keep you informed of the projects and issues that relate to our Island. Some upcoming projects are the importing of beach sand to the island, seawall project and Marine Avenue street reconstruction project.

The question most commonly asked is "What is the completion date of the Park Avenue Bridge?" The current estimate is April 2017. I would like to recognize our Public Works Director Dave Webb for this efforts to keep us informed. The City has a web site and has provided weekly updates on the project. <http://www.parkavebridge.com/>

LOVE AND KEWPIES ARE IN THE AIR AT THE BALBOA ISLAND MUSEUM

By Shirley Pepys

Kewpies were one of the first mass-produced toys in the world. These grinning baby dolls with the funny little tufts of hair and chubby cheeks were created by self-taught artist Rose O'Neill, and were initially conceptualized as a cartoon intended for a comic strip in 1909. O'Neill said, "The idea grew from a baby brother when I was a little girl. I made drawings of him while I played with him. All his little looks and gestures came out later in the Kewpie."

A collection of Kewpie dolls and memorabilia is now on display at the Balboa Island Museum located at 331 Marine Avenue. Come take a walk down memory lane or discover Kewpie for the first time. You are sure to be delighted! A recent visitor at the Museum shared his Kewpie memory. "When I was courting my wife of almost 45 years, we had a wonderful day and evening together in San Francisco. The next morning, I planned a day to go to Santa Cruz to the Boardwalk. I announced to her with glee in the morning, 'I'm going to take you to Santa Cruz and win you a Kewpie Doll!' We are still on a wonderful journey together."

These artifacts are on loan from Balboa Island resident and Museum President, Shirley Pepys, who was involved with the design and merchandising of the Kewpie doll.

The Museum's Balboa Island Love Stories are also on display. Dozens of local residents have contributed stories detailing how they met and fell in love on Balboa Island.

B.I.I.A. 2017 MEMBERSHIP ROSTER

As of February 17, 2017

Dear Members,

It is with great pleasure I present this membership roster in the first quarter issue of The Island Bridge. Never before have we been able to do so because traditionally our membership participation is not up to a publishable quantity this early in the year. We've enjoyed an overwhelmingly positive response to the letters that went out to so many of you - if you did not receive one it was because we do not have accurate mailing addresses on file so be sure to provide that information completely and clearly on your 2017 application. If you have not received an acknowledgement letter and a full set of stickers as you read this they are imminent. If you feel you have erroneously been left off the printed list please contact me directly so we can resolve the matter. Thank you!
